A photograph of two young girls running on a green artificial turf field. The girl in the foreground is wearing a white t-shirt with orange and purple horizontal stripes and colorful striped leggings. She is smiling and looking down. The girl behind her is wearing a pink t-shirt and patterned leggings. They are both wearing sneakers. The background shows a concrete path and some green bushes with orange flowers. A beach ball is visible in the distance. The scene is brightly lit, suggesting a sunny day.

Key themes from past engagement

Play advocacy can help to revitalize specific parks

Sites like Monte Cecilia Park offer plenty of potential for play to be provided in many ways

Play diversity can increase engagement opportunities

By promoting adventurous play and community-led play, whānau can experience play in many different ways

Partnerships are key to better play outcomes

Relationships with Kāinga Ora are essential for good play opportunities in new developments, and other important stakeholders (such as play academics, and organisations like the Ministry of Education) can further support this mahi

Play has potential to support stronger communities

Let's engage with local business leaders to promote the value of playful and playable elements in town centres and shopping streets

Play advocacy update

- Working with 19 Local Boards in 2023/24 (in 17 work programmes)
- Drafting a new risk benefit assessment approach to enable adventurous nature play
- Advocating for play in both the Open Space Network Plan refresh and the Long-Term Plan
- Involved in planning discussions with Kāinga Ora, and internally re: development contributions
- Advocating for support from Sport NZ for higher level discussions (e.g. Ministry of Education)
- Working with the Emergency Recovery team to address current play needs of displaced children and build play into future strategy
- Re-starting conversation with AT regarding community play streets

Regional Sports Trust update

- Updates from recent RST school engagement
- General trends emerging from Neighbourhood Play System projects
- Opportunities for local board advocacy
