	Manager Community Libraries	Libraries & Information	20/02/2017	23/02/2017	AUSTRALIA	Sydney	563.09	Attending the Indigenous Librarians Forum (ILF) was beneficial as it highlighted ways to foster and preserve language, traditions and culture. This can be applied to the diverse community that makes up Auckland. The learnings from this conference can be used in workshops with the community, the team and the wider Auckland Libraries/Council network.	Professional development - stay current with best practice on indigenous knowledge in library services
Judith Waaka	Pourataki, Rautaki Maori Digital Services & Development	Libraries & Information	20/02/2017	24/02/2017	AUSTRALIA	Sydney	472.09	Attendance at this conference helped develop leadership capability through learning from and sharing with other indigenous people. The key benefits were learning how other indigenous people incorporate indigenous knowledge in library services across the world, in particular around language, culture survival, balancing epistemic library experience. This in turn will help inform how Auckland Libraries can achieve transformational shifts with and for Maori in Tamaki Makaurau.	Professional development - stay current with best practice on indigenous knowledge in library services
	Poutakaka Aronga Maori Service Capability	Libraries & Information	20/02/2017	23/02/2017	AUSTRALIA	Sydney	563.09	Auckland Libraries benefited by staff members attendance at this conference from the exchanging of ideas and learning of best practices within Libraries internationally and strategic thinking to help preserve language, culture and traditional values for implementation of Te Kauhanganui and Te Kaurou. It was an opportunity to learn from government and council supported social innovation in Bogota and Medellin and participate in a Global Summit on Social Innovation. The Global Summit on Social Innovation in Bogota Columbia was an invitation only event of social innovation leaders from around the world 13-15 March 2017 hosted by The Rockefeller Foundation. The Summit was a first of its kind event bringing together leading actors across the social innovation spectrum – from Labs to social enterprise accelerators to share, learn, inspire and collaborate. I was hosted by Medellin Council 21 and 22 March to learn about the local government led social and community innovation in the city. Auckland has a relationship with Medellin following our participation at the World Cities Summit in Singapore. Auckland was awarded a Special Mention in the 2016 Lee Kuan Yew Prize (which Medellin won). Promote best practice and lerack major infrastructure development as well as workshops to share invaluable knowledge and learnings.italy important for our future collaborative leadership of homelessness responses in Auckland. The focus of the conference was indigenous homelessness, which is particularly relevant for Auckland Council, considering Maori are over-represented in homelessness statistics. 	Team Leader Planning	Plans & Places	15/05/2017	15/05/2017	AUSTRALIA	Melbourne	838.59	This was a conference on higher density residential developments, a key policy topic within the remit of role as Team Leader in the Auckland-wide Unit. The conference also provided an opportunity to learn and participate in international policy setting for higher density residential housing, which I had worked on in a recent plan change. This was relevant to professional development - stay current with best practice on medium and higher density residential developments, in line with the new direction of the Unitary Plan including a more dense zoning strategy and the policy methods (and implications) of this and to promote best practice and learnings from Auckland Council on policy approaches to enabling higher density developments in city, city fringe and urban environments; and to share learnings and experiences on these matters from the Unitary Plan. Learnings from this conference directly with the team (other policy planners directly involved in policy decisions and analysis on this topic) and also with the wider department via shared learning sessions at a departmental meeting.
	Team Leader Design Review	Auckland Design Office	15/05/2017	18/05/2017	AUSTRALIA	Melbourne	749.89	The reason/purpose of the trip was to learn more about medium and higher density living and improve my understanding of best practice. This was particularly relevant at the time with the release of the Auckland Unitary Plan and the desire to introduce more brownfield higher density residential living to the city and suburbs. The conference also had speakers discussing medium density housing design guidance which was useful to help inform our approach to the Design Elements / Design guidance which is shortly to be uploaded to the Auckland Design Manual. Professional development - stay current with best practice on medium and higher density living.

Glenn Wilcox	IMSB Deputy Chair	Independent Maori Statutory Board	21/07/2017	2/08/2017	CANADA	Toronto	7905.09	Attendance at the WIPCE 2017 in Toronto further enhances Glenn's ability to add value from a Maori perspective to the decisions he makes in his role as a member of the IMSB. WIPCE attendance also helped Glenn to view the world from a wider indigenous perspective. Glenn's attendance at the last WIPCE was of benefit to decision making, enhancing the quality of decisions and the critical reasoning for them, these were based on a Maori World View that encapsulated and were complimented by Western philosophies that underpin the modern society of New Zealand. The conference attracts highly regarded indigenous education experts, practitioners, and scholars. As a result, WIPCE is the largest and most diverse Indigenous education venue in the world. The conference continues to lead the discussion on contemporary movements in education that support Indigenous worldviews.
Brennan Rigby	Principal Advisor Social Outcomes	Independent Maori Statutory Board	21/07/2017	27/07/2017	AUSTRALIA	Melbourne	744.93	The purpose for the trip was to support the Board's environmental scanning on the issue of homelessness during 2017; to support the Board's advocacy regarding homelessness and related topics; learn about the ways in which Australian practitioners are grappling with indigenous homelessness; to learn about how the role of addressing homelessness is shared between local authorities and government; to learn about new and innovative approaches to homelessness in Australia including research showing that state funding expended on the treatment of homeless individuals through hospital emergency wards would be better directed to homeless services or even accommodation; to learn about the implementation of the Housing First best practice model, particularly in an indigenous context; to learn about the use of Collective Impact in addressing homelessness in Australia – as this is what was proposed in Auckland. Many of these learnings were utilised directly in developing the Board's position paper and related advocacy, advocating directly to council and government, and directly informing and supporting the Auckland Housing First project team.

AnnaJane Jacob	TSI Social Intrapreneur	The Southern Initiative	18/10/2017	6/11/2017	UNITED STATES	LA/Detroit	2097.73	I attended the National Minority Supplier Development Conference, as a part of a New Zealand & Australian Delegation. The conference was held in Detroit from 22-25 th October 2017. In mid-2017, The Southern Initiative established He Waka Eke Noa, an intermediary which connects Maori, Pacifica and other socially innovative businesses with business opportunities within large public body supply chains. There is a growing body of evidence around the efficacy of including minority business owners into supply chains, who have a better track record of employing people from ethnic minorities, supporting them and paying them higher wages, therefore reducing overall dependency on the welfare system. While this is standard practice across the OECD, it is an emerging practice in New Zealand. My travel was primarily prompted by a partnership with City Rail Link Limited, who signed up to work with TSI on how they can include minority owned businesses into their supply chain and increase social outcomes through their spend. The conference, which is held annually, brings the world's leading experts and largest companies together to talk about best practice, growing and supporting diverse businesses and connecting business owners with the private and public sector. Over 10,000 people attend the conference during the 3 days. The conference is the biggest gathering of minority suppliers across the world. The United States of America are the world leaders in minority supplier development. This was an opportunity to connect with key leaders including experts from the UK, Canada and South Africa and establish He Waka Eke Noa on the most current and advanced practice. I am utilising the knowledge and connections gained from the conference to develop a conference in New Zealand for public body procurement professionals and project managers working on large construction and infrastructure projects. This will help to inspire and build a more robust social procurement practice across New Zealand.
	Specialist Advisor	Community Empowerment (Arts Culture and Events)	19/10/2017	30/10/2017	CANADA	Winnipeg	2708.63	Professional development -stay current with best practice on working towards ending homelessness Last October, I attended the National Conference on Ending Homelessness 2017 in Winnipeg, Canada. I lead Auckland Council's operational response to homelessness, including advising how council best invest the regional homelessness budget. This year the budget was almost $700,000 and a provision of $500,000 per annum has been made for the next two years in the Long Term Plan. Attending the conference meant having access to world leading expertise which assists me to provide quality advice and inform decision making on how best to allocate the regional homelessness budget. With over 1050 attendees from all over Canada, US, UK, Australia and New Zealand, this was an opportunity to understand good practice in homelessness prevention from around the world. Eight New Zealand delegates attended the conference, representing Housing First Auckland, Ministry of Social Development (MSD), Lifewise, Kahui Tu Kaha, Peoples Project and Auckland Council. This provided valuable networking and shared learning experiences that are vitally important for our future collaborative leadership of homelessness responses in Auckland. The focus of the conference was indigenous homelessness, which is particularly relevant for Auckland Council, considering Maori are over-represented in homelessness statistics. Since attending the conference, Council has agreed to allocate funding towards a kaupapa Maori evaluation of the Housing First, which is a Canadian programme that is being implemented in New Zealand, supported by MSD and Auckland Council. The kaupapa Maori evaluation will ensure that the programme is being suitably adapted to meet the needs of Maori, who represent 64% of the Housing First participants, and this was a strong message that came from the conference. Other workstreams attended included sessions on youth homelessness, using data to drive decisions, legislating the prevention of homelessness, the role of shelter housing applying a housing first approach and systems planning - all of which were relevant to Auckland Council and the Auckland context. While in Canada I also visited Vancouver City Council to gain an understanding to their operational and policy response to homelessness. This was a valuable opportunity as Auckland Council is currently developing a regional homelessness strategy including a multi sector action plan. Overall the trip provided valuable insights and learnings to take back to Auckland Council which I am continuing to apply through my role.
