Refer to AC1826 Fire Protection Guidance for further information regarding Council fire design expectations

Assessment of existing buildings means of escape (MOE) from fire is an analysis of the existing building for compliance with the Building Code in terms of: -

- means of escape from fire; and
- access and facilities for disabled (where these features affect the means of escape from fire)

NB Council recommends that applicants refer to Schedule 1 “Exempt Building Work” to determine whether a building consent is required for fit-outs. Exempt Building Work is further discussed in AC1826.3 Part 3.

All new building work must fully comply with the Building Code for existing buildings undergoing an alteration to existing buildings and any change of use. In addition, the existing building must comply as nearly as reasonably practicable in terms of means of escape from fire and access and facilities for disabled persons. Alterations to Existing Buildings is further discussed in AC1826.2 Part 2.

For further guidance please refer to our Fire Protection Guidance AC1826 which is available on our website
