The recommended new wording is described in the submission and accompanying diagrams [refer to pages 22-24/41 and Diagram 3 and 4 pages 38-39/41] and would require a longer outlook space relative to the importance of the room which the window serves and the height of the wall at the other end of the outlook space increases.
